Nexia Announces Appointment of Matthew Howell as Chief Executive Officer

Düsseldorf, London, 10.01.2025 – Nexia, one of the world's leading networks of independent accounting and advisory firms for the mid-market, announces the appointment of Matthew Howell as its new Chief Executive Officer.

With a distinguished career spanning over two decades in senior leadership roles within membership organisations and professional services, Matthew Howell brings a wealth of experience to the Nexia network.

Matthew Howell previously served as Interim Chief Executive Officer of the Chartered Institute of Procurement and Supply (CIPS), where he led a global organisation of 65,000 members.

Prior to joining CIPS, Mr Howell also held senior roles at a number of leading international audit, tax and advisory firms.

"We are thrilled to welcome Matt Howell as our new CEO. His exemplary leadership and deep understanding of membership organisations, combined with his extensive experience in the accounting profession, make him uniquely qualified to lead Nexia into its next chapter of growth and innovation," said Philip Mandel, Chair of Nexia's International Board.

As an advocate for inclusivity and collaboration, Matt has consistently championed strategies that empower teams and strengthen organisational culture. His vision aligns seamlessly with Nexia's mission to support members and their clients across the globe on their path to growth.

"I am honoured to join Nexia and to build on its legacy. Together, we will continue to elevate our members and the profession through innovation, inclusivity and an unwavering commitment to delivering value," said Matt Howell.
